Portfolio

European markets returned a poor performance in October, particularly among midcaps. Although there was no specific newsflow to account for the market sell-off, several factors combined to fuel anxiety among investors, including fears over the trade war, rising logistical costs, the health of the Chinese economy and the Italian budget. The correction, which had chiefly impacted growth stocks until the end of August, spilled-over to the broader market. Despite reductions among our holdings in these companies, the bearish trend had a negative impact on the fund which underperformed its benchmark index, notably due to weakness in stocks such as Worldline, Moncler and Teleperformance.

Furthermore, the sharp downturn in industrial companies such as Koenig & Bauer, which represent the majority of the fund's Value investments, also weighed on our performance. Quadrator's zero exposure to the telecoms and retail sectors also contributed negatively. The fund's relative performance improved during the second half of the month however as the reporting season served as a reminder that discounted stocks are often cheaper for sound reasons, such as Eutelsat which issued a profit warning. We increased our exposure to Value stocks slightly, through investments such as TF1. The sharp rally staged by Kion, which managed to achieve its targets, contrary to certain expectations, was a promising sign.

Investment approach

The objective of the fund is to achieve annualised capital appreciation in the long term through a risk adjusted outperformance against the benchmark. The stocks are picked on an active, fundamental, bottom up, discretionary and unconstrained approach. The recommended minimum investment horizon is five years.

Investment Universe

The fund will invest its assets in equity and equity related securities issued by companies that are headquartered in the Eurozone, or conduct the preponderant part of their activity in the Eurozone.
